

Display Helps Art Fit Home

That there is more to decorating than arranging furniture and selecting colors is clearly stated in the room shown here. Emphasis is on marrying art to the setting. Room is good guide to effective use and display of variety of art—expensive or inexpensive—in the home. At left "Hands" by Jack Denst, a large scale oxyacetylene sculpture is placed near the wall to benefit from lighting. Note intriguing pattern on wall surface from shadow. Low pottery bowl with textured finish benefits from the dark walnut surface of long table. On the wall humor and seriousness mix with colorful Denst collage, framed pencil sketches and pompous sand-sculptured bird. Hanging lamp, too, is art. It is a brass and silver sculpture.

CHICAGO — An artist-businessman feels this country is being "emotioned to death by Pop Art and its ilk." It represents, according to Jack Denst, another "regrettable trend."

Although Denst designed 480 books for his wallpaper firm in the last year and now is way ahead with designs for another season, he says he regrets trends when it comes to art. During an intense, but brief, chat in a darkened retreat for the hurried executives in the Merchandise Mart here, Denst turned to one of his favorite topics—art and its use in the home.

He was especially gleeful that three years' work with his oxyacetylene torch is proving productive beyond even his active imagination. His sculptures have been well-received critically and financially. In fact, "Marshall Field bought me out," he revealed.

The eagerness on the part of a major department store to make fine art available to its customers reflects a changing attitude of retailer and consumer. It represents one of those "trends" that disturb Denst.

Art to dress up the home life of the man-in-the-street and not just the millionaire's manse is more important to all concerned than it was five years ago. Recognizing this, for example, is the Advertising Women's Club of New York which this month presents an award for "upgrading consumer tastes" to Sears Roebuck and Co. for its Vincent Price collection of fine arts program. Trading stamp companies got into the act early, too, offering limited editions of originals and quality prints, classic sculpture and paintings to stamp redeemers.

The fact that the so-called average person is looking at and even taking home such merchandise brings up a problem. How does one decorate with a variety of art objects in the home? It no longer is enough to stick a framed $1.98 print on the wall over a couch.

Here Denst is a big help since he travels in two related worlds of interior design and fine art.

"I like to see sculpture, for example, treated more museum-like, on a pedestal and lighted," he explained.

He realizes that most cannot afford marble, exquisite wood or expensive metal pieces and urges that those new to collecting start with less expensive ceramic sculpture or buy reproductions of classic pieces. Once in the home, "you look at it to learn about sculpture and see dimension."

He urges the new collector to visit art fairs and "if you like something, buy it and don't suffer from regret later for passing it up."

The best way to live with any art — from an ancestor's sampler to framed works of the children's school dabbling — is to display it with imagination. Touches of art add a personality to any house or apartment that cannot be duplicated by any neighbor.

In this era of creeping conformity this is something for a couple on a budget to consider.

Remove False Eyelashes Before a Swim

Fortunate persons who take winter vacations find a plunge in the hotel swimming pool or the ocean a significant part of their vacation in the sun. If you use mascara, even water-resistant, blot your eyes when emerging from water but don't rub. This helps avoid smears. Don't swim with your false eyelashes on.

TIMELY QUOTES

The most promising road for Republican victory . . . seems to be to pick the most attractive candidate you can find and identify him as fully as possible with the Democratic record.

Fun Togs Feature New Mix

Solids, stripes and plaids are delightfully combined in this season's vacation togs. Bicolor shift (left) has low waistline and hi-rise neckline. The solid-toned bodice gives way to a diagonally striped skirt. Jamaican beach-stroller costume (right) pairs solid bayberry long-line shirt of cotton knit accented in white with gay plaid shorts. NEW YORK (NEA) — Resort and vacation togs are brighter and fresher this year than ever before. And there's news in co-ordinates. You used to mix and match. Now you just mix.

If you like a pink top with pink shorts, go ahead and wear it. But you won't be as "in" as the gal who teams it with plaid, for example.

shirts balance the solid tone of a swinging A-line skirt

Stripes and bold plaids shift from slim pencil lines to diagonal wanderings and from color to color like a whirling spectrum.

There are low-slung shifts that melt into diagonal plaid skirts. Madras plaid bare-midriff tops with ruffled detailing offset tailored trumpet-bell pants as new modified sailor legs.

Shell tops, poor-boy shirts and tuck-in knits are paired with trumpetbells, stovepipes, low-riding gunslings and Jamaica-Jams, newest shorts fad—straight and cut off at the knee.

The colors will be a joy to mix. They're both hot and cool. You'll find the deep lush tropic hues of Mo-bay blue, Jamaican berry, gold ingot, jungle jade and the cooling wash of paled neutrals such as wild rice, bone, beige, white, mint green and aqua.

Mix well and enjoy the results. It promises to be a bright, gay season.

Creativity Is Back in Style

by Ruth Millett

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Great-great-grandma got a lot of job satisfaction out of adding a little creativity to the drudgery of her household chores. She took pride in the pretty quilts she pieced, the coverlets she crocheted, the china she painted, the household linens she fancied up with tatting, and fine embroidery.

Then women decided that such handiwork was a waste of time and that the way for a woman to express herself was to get out and do community work, to join study groups, to work for a pay check.

Somehow, though, all that wasn't enough for a woman. It just didn't satisfy her basic need for creating something with her own hands of which she could be proud.

So housewives, once more, are knitting and crocheting and painting and sewing and embroidering—and getting just as big a kick out of displaying the things they make as did great-great-grandma.

Only today, there's a kit for everything—for hooking a rug, for antiquing an old piece of furniture, for making a needle-point handbag or a crewel sofa pillow.

And the kits are selling like hot cakes—as one woman sees another's handiwork and is bitten by the create-it-yourself bug.

Today, as in great-great-grandmother's time, it's not what a woman buys completely finished that she is proud of and can't wait to show her friends. It is the old chest she has antiqued, the needle-point handbag she has strained her eyes over, the sweater she has knitted herself.

There's only one big difference between then and now. Once women knitted and embroidered while listening silently as the men talked.

Now they pick up their handiwork when the man of the house turns on the television set.

Fashion Tips

Traveler's "Grab Bag"

When making up your wardrobe list for that trip of the year don't forget to include the "grab bag" for going places. Be sure you select one with a couple of zippered compartments and one that has a pocket on the outside for easy entry to passports or travel tickets.

Eye-Catching Change

The "IN" change in silhouette goes from top to bottom. Now the lean and lanky look appears in lithe tops while your favorite pants and skirts, too, carry the full-blown and breezy gaze. Quite eye-catching!

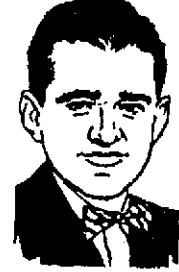

Fabrics Help Spring Look

For spring '66 be sure to select fabrics that are soft, supple and lightweight. Keep your colors clear and delectable and you'll look as fresh and young as springtime.

New Look for Wedding

The baby doll or ingenue look has even crept into the wedding dress department. White organdy with demure insets of tucking, tiny rows of lace or minute buttons from the collar to the ruffled hem can look as charming as a little girl in her first communion dress.

Batman Happy, But That Cape

By DICK KLEINER

Hollywood Correspondent, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Batman and Alice in Wonderland are an item. At least they are coupled in Adam West's mind and, since Adam West plays Batman, that should make the item reasonably accurate. "Batman," says Batman, "is marvelous nonsense. Like Alice in Wonderland."

So there you have it. And, when you think about it, maybe Adam West is right in making the comparison. Surely, a Batcave must be something like a slithy tove, a Batpole holds the same promise as a rabbit hole and The Riddler grins much like the Cheshire Cat.

The comparison goes further. Now it is Adam who is in Wonderland—the Wonderland of Glittering Stardom that few actors ever see. And seldom in Hollywood history has a virtual unknown made the trip through the looking glass so rapidly.

A few months ago, not many people had ever heard of him. Now he's suddenly one of our biggest stars.

Happily, he seems to be bright enough to cope with the sudden onslaught of fame, sensible enough to take it in his man-sized stride.

"I KNOW," HE SAYS, "that people are looking at me and they're expecting me to change. But I don't believe, in cases like this, it is the actor who changes—no, it's the people around him who change."

"Already, I've noticed this. Not my good friends and not my family, but people I know treat me differently now."

He is aware that Batman is a major force in his life. It is, though he is inclined to be optimistic.

"I would like the show to last for three years," he says, "and then I hope I'll be able to go on to other things."

"Of course, there is always the chance that Batman will die in a year—and that I will die with it. But I'm hopeful that won't happen."

ADAM WEST IS A FARM BOY, from Spring Valley, near Walla Walla in Washington. His family still farms near there. But there was more than agriculture in his background. His mother was a pianist and, as the local cultural leader, always played hostess to touring concert artists who came to town. The young boy met them all—the pianists and violinists and singers and lecturers. He thinks now that this association is what made him yearn for something more than life on a wheat farm. So he turned to acting.

He had some moderate success—a few minor roles in features, some guest shots on television, one season as a continuing character on a series, The Detective.

HE WAS TRYING HIS LUCK in Europe when Bill Dozier—and Adam still hasn't asked Dozier where he had seen him—sent him the Batman script.

"I read 15 pages," West says, "and I knew that it would be a tremendous hit."

He came back and the rest is television history. Batman and Adam West are made for each other—it is hard to conceive of another actor who could do the part as well. And Adam West believes that it isn't as easy an acting job as some might think.

Now he's tired. Not of the part, but of the work and all the extra things that come with being a success.

"Running around in this freakish costume," he says, "is kind of debilitating."

False eyelashes go everywhere—to a dance, card party, beach or classroom. The false lashes are silky and sweeping on top. What about the natural ones on the bottom? Powder bottom lashes and apply mascara. Let dry and hold a cotton swab just under the eye. Brush lashes over the tip of the swab. Repeat several times if necessary. This picks up excess and helps avoid smearing mascara under the eye.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Battel

On Making Decisions

Dear Helen: Decision making! I read that half of women's ills are caused from not being able to make decisions. Guess this is true — the nervous, illing gals I know all have a miserable time making up their minds, even about such little things as what to wear, or feed their men.

But no one has ever told us how to become "decision-makers." As I grow older I find more and more that I'm bogging down on stupid little problems that I used to brush off in a minute. Nowadays if I have to make a choice fast I get a little panicky, and then I start to stew and fret about it. I never used to be afraid I'd make the wrong move — I just batted right ahead (and often regretted it) but at least I got things done. This slow-down isn't really serious, just worrisome.

How can I get back to being fast on the draw? — Nudging 50.

Dear N-50: You can't — completely, for age breeds caution. But you can become faster on the draw if you learn to laugh at yourself. It IS funny, you know, watching the nutty little indecisions that clutter up a housewife's life, and if you do not think so, ask your husband. They get more troublesome as you grow older because, with kids grown and life slowed down, you have more time to think... and dragging your brain over decisions is a subconscious way of filling in the blank spaces.

Why not get busier? Take a self-improvement course; get out and do things with your husband; crowd yourself a bit and you won't have time to boggle over trifles.

And smile: seeing the humor of your situation is almost always the best way to lick it. — h.

Computerized Chaos

Dear Helen: How do you argue with a computer? I bought a watch that immediately stopped running. Just about that time, the store I bought it from went out of business, and the bills were turned over to a credit agency.

Each month their computer grinds out a bill, plus interest, and each month I write a nice little note saying I won't pay for the watch until it's fixed and

I don't know where to send it. Nothing happens except another computer card with more interest the next month.

I called about it once, long-distance, and got such a run-around it cost $3.00 in toll charges. I think the office force has got computerized minds too. Finally, somebody said, "Yes, Mrs. S, we'll attend to it." — and boom, the next month, same old bill with added service charges. Counting stamps, telephone, and service charges, pretty soon that watch will cost twice as much — and it still doesn't run!

Does anyone know how to get a human answer out of a computer? — Mrs. XX.

Dear Mrs. X: It isn't easy! Keep Carbon copies of your letters, and pay no bills until the watch is repaired or replaced (which SHOULD be done under the guarantee). A REAL married outside their church fighter would present her telephone and stamp bill, and wouldn't THAT give the computer a lovely case of indigestion! Here is luck. — H.

Dear Helen: I disagree with you that children should go to birthday parties in play clothes. They don't get to dress up much these days and frills and neckties make small children feel special. I DO agree with you that it's okay to shop with hair rollers (covered by scarves) in neighborhood markets. On a windy day, the gal with rollers is the only neat one around — and often rolled hair looks better than the teased and untidy hair that follows. — L. T. D.

Snead Knows He'll Have to Go to Hold on

By DUKE FERGUSON

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Sam Snead, feeling comfortable as an old slipper, knows he'll have to hustle today to keep his two stroke lead going into the second round of the $110,000 Citrus Open Golf Tournament.

"But I figure it'll give the younger fellows something to shoot at," he said in his easy Virginia drawl.

The veteran of too many tournament wars to remember drew an early start in Thursday's first round with the "dew sweepers," and came home with an early lead of 33-33-66. It stood up as the younger and stronger players failed to match his performance.

Snead, who turns 54 May 27 and who has won more than 116 titles since going professional in 1937, joked with newsmen after finishing his round.

This startled some. Many a reporter has felt the ire of Snead in his less jovial moods. But Snead has a tough field of competitors opposing him in this 72-hole event.

The field includes the Big Three — Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus — as well as 47 of the top 50 money winners on the circuit and eight winners of tournaments on the winter tour this year.

Of the Big Three, only Nicklaus, who set a course record of 64 in Wednesday's pro-am event, came in under par. He shot a 36-34 — 70 over the 6,873-yard, par 35-36 — 71 Rio Pinar Country Club course to tie with six others for fourth place.

Sitting in a challenging position are a couple of unknowns on the tournament trail. They are Dean Refram, 29, of Boca Raton, Fla., and John Lotz, 23, of Hayward, Calif. Both turned in three-under par rounds of 68. Four players were tied for third with 69s. They were R. H. Sikes, Joe Campbell, Billy Maxwell and Gardner Dickinson Jr. Bunched at 70 with Nicklaus were Bob Shave Jr., Mason Rudolph, Tommy Bolt, Chris Blocker and Jack Rule Jr. Palmer had a 75 and Player 76.

The field of 143 professionals and a single amateur will be cut to the low 70 scorers and ties after today's round.

First prize money is $21,000.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles signed Jerry Dossey of Lawton, Okla., to a grant-in-aid Thursday and said the all-state tackle was one of the most sought after linemen in the Southwest.

The 6-foot-4 Dossey originally signed with Oklahoma State, but Broyles said Dossey called him Wednesday night and said he wanted to play football for the Razorbacks.

Broyles said Dossey was fought by teams as far east as Auburn and by "practically every school in this area."

Don and Sandy Sign Contracts to Make Film

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer Buzzie Bavasi, the general manager of the holdout-plagued Los Angeles Dodgers, lost two of his men Thursday, at least for the start of the season, when Sandy Koufax and teammate Don Drysdale signed contracts with Paramount Pictures.

Now, instead of heading for spring training where they would work the winter out of their arms, they will head for a movie studio.

"I guess that settles it," Bavasi said upon hearing that Koufax and Drysdale will make "Warning Shot" with David Janssen for two weeks starting April 4.

The players' attorney, William Hayes, said there are no escape clauses in the contracts, which means they will miss the start of the season April 12. Drysdale will play a television commentator, and Koufax a detective. They are three-week holdouts who originally sought three-year contracts calling for $500,000 each. They said Wednesday they had made alternate proposals but declined to reveal details.

Hayes, meanwhile, said the hurlers, who won 49 games between them last year, have been offered a 10-week tour of Japan starting in mid-June. It would pay in six figures plus a percentage of the gate at exhibitions and clinics.

The Dodgers Thursday broke a 19-inning scoreless s'ring but still lost their fifth straight, a 4-3 decision to St. Louis.

Jim Lefebvre's three-run homer in the ninth inning snapped the string, but reliever Dennis Aust ended the game by getting pinch hitter Tommy Davis to hit into a double play.

Three Atlanta hurlers put together the best pitched game of the day, combining for a one-hit, 2-0 shutout over the Chicago White Sox. Ken Berry got the only hit, a third-inning single off Denny Lemaster. Ken Johnson and Joe Cisterna held the Sox hitless through the last five innings.

Denny McLain and Bill Monbouquette teamed up for a three-hitter in Detroit's 1-0 triumph over Cincinnati. Jim Northrup tripled in the sixth and scored on Don Demeter's single.

San Francisco remained the only unbeaten team, clobbering California 13-1 behind a 20-hit attack. Rookie catcher Bob Barton lashed a double, a triple and two singles while Gaylord Perry, Joe Gibbon and Lindy McDaniel stymied the Angels.

Minnesota, on the other hand, finally won a game after seven losses. The American League champion Twins downed the New York Yankees 5-1 with Harmon Killebrew and Don Mincher hitting successive homers in the second inning.

Boog Powell cracked two homers and Frank Robinson and Sam Bowens one each as Baltimore thumped Washington 7-2, while Tom Reynolds homered in the ninth, lifting Kansas City past Pittsburgh 3-2, and Rusty Staub belted a three-run homer in Houston's 7-2 victory over Boston.

Roberto Pena rapped six hits as the Chicago Cubs trimmed Cleveland 8-6, and Philadelphia battled the New York Mets to a 15-inning, 3-3 deadlock.

Clay Still 1-A, to Fight March 29

By BILL MAPIN

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Champion Cassius Clay was certain today of a March 29 heavyweight title fight with George Chuvalo.

And he was almost as sure he will be wearing Army green instead of boxing trunks shortly thereafter.

Selective Service Local Board 47 removed the last barrier to the fight Thursday when it gave the champion permission to leave the United States.

The fight is scheduled at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, and Clay classified 1-A, the top priority for induction into the Armed Services, had to have his local board's permission to leave the country. That permit expires April 17.

But the board, after hearing 35 minutes of testimony from Clay, reaffirmed its Feb. 17 action, when it reclassified Clay from 1-Y, draft exempt, to 1-A.

J. Allen Sherman, chairman of the board, said Clay, or Muhammad Ali, as he prefers to be called, claimed his Black Muslim religion should be grounds for deferment as a conscientious objector.

The only avenue left open for Clay to be deferred is a formal, written appeal. Sherman said the champion will have 10 days from notification of the board's action to appeal.

Kentucky Remains Thin Favorite

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)

Kentucky, a thin favorite, may have to bust up its starting line-up for the first time this season tonight when it takes on Duke in what could be the key game in the NCAA basketball championships.

Texas Western plays Utah in the second of the semifinals, with the survivors meeting Saturday for the national title coupled the last two years by UCLA.

All of the semifinalists but Texas Western continued to complain of injuries and illness after their final tune-ups Thursday night, and the health, spirit and aggressiveness of the team from the far reaches of West Texas switched a lot of sentiment to the Miners.

Kentucky and Duke are the two top-ranked teams in the country whose match-up makes for one of the top games of the season. Kentucky, No. 1, is 26-1 for the season. Duke, No. 2, is 25-3. The winner of their semifinal is generally expected to take the title.

Each has a major health problem, however. Duke's top scorer, Bob Verga, was released from the hospital Thursday morning after a bout with tonsillitis and is expected to be at less than full strength.

And Kentucky starter Larry Conley, a 6-foot-3 cornerman, is a doubtful starter after a touch of flu.

Utah takes a 23-6 record into its semi against deep, strong Texas Western, the nation's No. 3 team at 28-1.

All games are scheduled for television coverage by Sports Network, Inc.

Celtics on Verge of Losing Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics are on the verge of losing the Eastern Division championship in the National Basketball Association for the first time in 10 years. They are one game back of the Philadelphia 76ers with only two games left in the regular season.

The 76ers won their ninth in a row by defeating the New York Knicks 115-106 at home Thursday night while the Celtics scored a 123-103 road victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Six clutch points by big Will Chamberlain on two baskets and two free throws in the last minute play sparked the 76ers over the Knicks and topped off a 37-point performance by the Big Dipper. Johnny Havlicek's 32 points, including the basket that broke a 62-62 tie, paced the Celtics over the Pistons.

Philadelphia can clinch a tie by defeating Cincinnati at home Saturday night and win the division crown outright by defeating Baltimore on the road Sunday regardless of what Boston does.

The Celtics' last two regular games are against New York on the road Saturday night and at home to Cincinnati on Sunday. Philadelphia has won 53 games and lost 25. Boston's record is 52-26.

San Francisco kept alive its faint hopes of beating out St. Louis for the last playoff spot in the Western Division with a 116-112 home court victory over the Hawks. The fourth-place Warriors trail the third-place Hawks by a game but San Francisco has only two games left while St. Louis has four remaining.

Rick Barry topped the Warriors with 39 points while Lennie Wilkens was high for the Hawks with 29.

Victim Offers Thief Gas Too

WINCHENDON, Mass. (AP)

A front-page advertisement in the Courier, a weekly newspaper, may have puzzled some. I said, "If the persons who stole the outboard motor from my camp at Lake Monomonic would like the gas can that goes with it, stop by at the store."

It was signed by John J. O'Donnell, owner of an appliance store.

Villanova Is the Victim in Semifinals

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — 'Twas St. Patrick's Night in the National Invitation Tournament so maybe an itinerant leprechaun led Bruce Kaplan to the hunch that made him the hero of New York University's 69-63 semifinal victory over Villanova.

The Violets meshed and made it to Saturday's championship against Brigham Young after Kaplan asked for and got the job of guarding Villanova's explosive Bill Melchionni in the final minutes Thursday night.

Brigham Young had reached the final by whipping Army 66-60 in the opener of the double-header before a capacity crowd of 18,499 at Madison Square Garden.

NYU had suffered through an eight-minute scoring famine in the first half and left the floor trailing 32-27. "Our tempo was off," said Coach Lou Rossini. "We are taking bad shots."

Worse than that, NYU star Mal Graham, who had passed the 1,000-point career plateau early in the game, was in foul trouble with three personals.

Graham's backcourt partner, Richie Dyer, who had been guarding Melchionni in the first half, also had three personals.

But the Violets battled back with sophomore Charlie Silen and Kaplan sparking them and led 59-50 with seven minutes left when Graham finally fouled out.

Two minutes later, Dyer drew his fourth personal with NYU's lead down to four. Then Kaplan made his move.

"I asked the coach to let me guard Melchionni after Dyer got his fourth. I knew if I could keep the ball away from him, we'd be all right," said Kaplan. Melchionni didn't get another point.

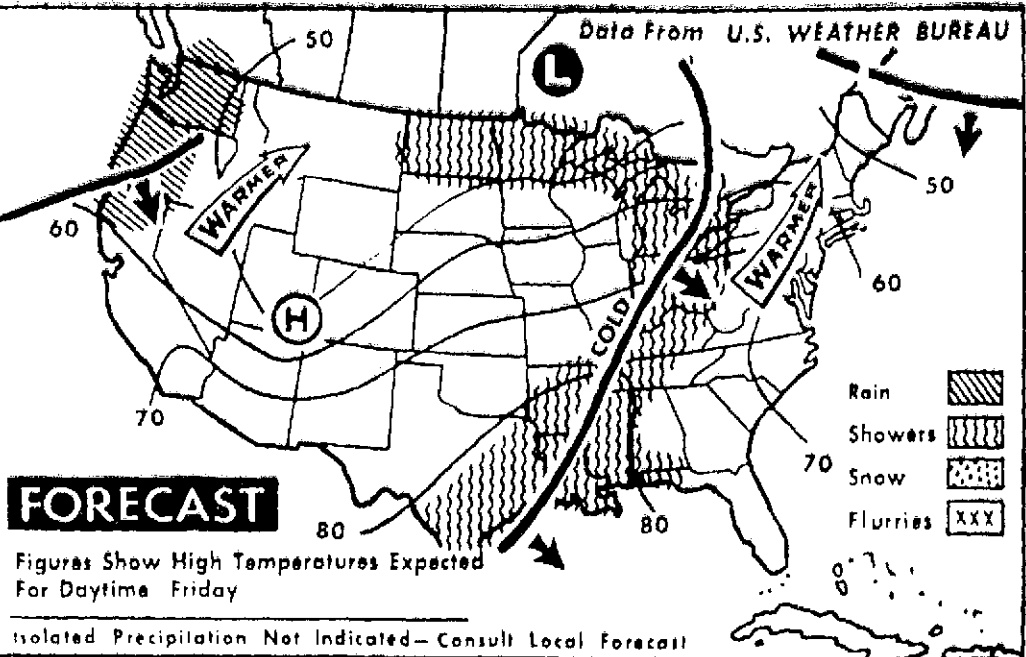

Kaplan was delighted that his hunch paid off so well. His 21 points led NYU and he dropped in four free throws in the last 40 seconds that wrapped it up but admitted that shutting out Melchionni those last five minutes "was much more satisfying."

Melchionni, who had 63 points in Villanova's first two tourney victories, finished with 17.

Steve Kramer, who played the last 17½ minutes with four personals, was the hero for Brigham Young. He scored four points in the final 35 seconds that ended Army's hopes and gave the top seeded Cougars an early victory.

BYU won 7½ minutes before it anaged its first field goal and the Cadets took advantage of the cold spell to jump to a 14-2 lead. But Brigham Young battled back and trailed by only four, 31-27 at halftime.

Ex-Storm Trooper Faces Charges

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)

A former general in Hitler's brown-shirted storm troopers, the SA, and a former Nazi diplomat have been charged with the wartime murder of thousands of Jews.

The two men, Adolf Beckerle and Fritz von Hahn, are accused of taking part in the deportation of 11,343 Jews from Macedonia and Thrace to the Treblinka death camp.

Von Hahn, who was a legation secretary under the Nazi Foreign Ministry, is also accused of deporting 20,000 Greek Jews to Auschwitz. After the war he worked in the government's weapons testing and procurement office until he was suspended in 1963.

Beckerle at one time headed the SA in the state of Hess. During the war he was the Nazi envoy in Sofia, Bulgaria.

No trial date has been set, and neither man is under arrest.

Checks Complaints

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for the Civil Rights Commission said today staff investigators are checking into a complaint filed by an Arkansas group alleging Negro citizens in eastern Arkansas have been disenfranchised through vote fraud.

The complaint was lodged by the Arkansas Project of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

The staff investigation probably will require several weeks, the spokesman said. Findings will be referred to the commission for consideration and action, he said.

Freedom Big Joke in China as in Russia

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Red Chinese leadership, old now and inflexibly set in its ways, makes noises like a revolutionary force but has become a reactionary one. It has happened before in this century.
In the Soviet Union, Stalin, once he took charge, became a reactionary, murderous force, as his successors admitted later. The Russian people may have improved a bit economically under him but freedom became a joke and terror a way of life.
Because he remained inflexi-ble in his hostility and ambitions, the Western world had its containment policy which held him tight.
Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., figures the average age of the present Chinese leaders is 68.
Together in the 1920s and 1930s they dreamed of their revolution and takeover and made both a reality in 1949.
They made a true revolution in their homeland and for millions of their poor and hungry countrymen it was probably good. But, like Stalin, they gradually became a menace to the world, and certainly to all of Asia.
It is possible their successors, like Stalin's, may be more reasonable and modern and that the whole world then can enter a more peaceful era.
But it is hard to see any such change, so long as the present leadership survives, despite any hopes of American Chinese scholars or the Johnson administration.
And outside its borders this leadership has been inept. In its zeal to spread communism outside China it has made one mess after another. It can't even get along with other Communist states, much less Western ones.
It split with the Soviet Union,
split with and antagonized Fidei-Castro's Cuba.
In recent years Indonesia looked lost to communism under President Sukarno. But last fall when the Indonesian Reds tried revolt, the army crushed them and, reportedly, slaughtered thousands. Now the army has stripped Sukarno of much of his power.
The recent overthrow of Ghana's Kwame Nkrumah was considered here a reverse for Red China. The Communist-backed war in Viet Nam resulted in a massive American military buildup in Southeast Asia.
Still thinking of a Communist take-over of the world, the Communist ideal of 30 or 40 years ago, Red Chinese leadership through its defense minister, Marshal Lin, last September talked of strangling the world's advanced countries from bases in undeveloped countries.
Last week two American Chinese scholars urged, before the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, that while the United States should continue to "contain" China to prevent aggression, it should begin to try for friendly relations with it.
And Vice President Hubert H.
Humphrey, over the past weekend, indicated what may be a new Johnson administration policy toward Red China.
While China must be contained, he said, "we must take every opportunity to show our friendship for the Chinese people" who should not be isolated from the "family of mankind."
The Red Chinese leaders gave a quick and predictable reaction, predictable because they never seem capable of anything but the same old frozen reaction, by calling Humphrey's remarks "a kiss of Judas" that must "disgust the Chinese people."

Reactivation Can Occur In Tuberculosis Victims

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—With the present treatment of tuberculosis is there any hope of eventual cure?
What precautions should be taken to prevent reactivation of an arrested case? What effect will alcohol in moderation have on an arrested case? Can a positive reaction to the tuberculin test be changed to negative with treatment?

A—Tuberculosis is more likely to be arrested than cured. The great danger lies in the fact that many persons with tuberculosis, when they begin to feel better, discontinue treatment even though the disease is not arrested.
When the disease is arrested,
however, the tissues wall off the tubercle bacilli, isolating them completely. They may then live in a state of suspended animation for decades or until the victim dies of some other cause.

Reactivation, when it occurs, is usually the result of a chronically run-down condition brought on by insufficient rest, inadequate diet and not enough outdoor exercise or by an acute debilitating disease.
Alcohol would not be likely to reactivate this disease unless it was accompanied by late hours and provided that by moderation you mean one drink a day and not a "double" at that.

A positive tuberculin reaction means that a person has had contact at some time in his life with the tubercle bacillus.
His tuberculosis may be active or arrested. Treatment of tuberculosis of the bone?
If a man of 50 gets it, how long can he be expected to live?
A—Like tuberculosis of the kidneys this disease is carried to the bones through the blood stream from the lungs.
The first symptoms are pain and swelling in or near a joint.
With vigorous treatment this type of tuberculosis can be completely arrested and the victim can live out his normal life span.

vidual letters he will answer letters

Wrong Seed, Mon Sued the Store

ROME, Ga. (AP) — Farmer
W. M. Cargle sued a seed store for $417 on grounds the seeds it sold him were the wrong ones.
He wanted to grow purple-top beets, but got something else.
The Superior Court jury returned the price of the seeds, but decided to charge to experience his claims of $40 for depreciation of his mule, $25 for land damage, $50 for use of his tractor, $90 for rent of the land, $10 for fertilizer, and $2 for in-secticides.
The seeds cost $1.

Four spades by South is such a normal contract that almost any pair in the world would get there with no trouble at all.

The play does not appear too complicated either. West has an automatic heart lead and continuation. South ruffs the third heart and will draw trumps with two leads.

At this point there will be a parting of the ways. Many players will attack clubs and go down one when the club finesse loses.

Experts will try something else. They will play out three rounds of diamonds. Some will cash the ace first; others will lead to the king but the whole plan of campaign will be to leave West in the lead with the third diamond. If West does gain the lead there will be no need to worry about the club suit. If West leads a red card, South gets a ruff and discard. If West leads a club South loses no club trick.

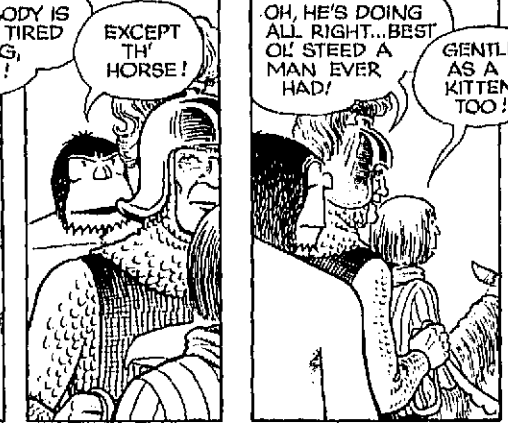

This plan won't work against a really great player in the West seat. This really great player will suspect what is going on and will counter South's nasty plan by getting rid of his queen and jack of diamonds on the ace and king. This will allow East to win the third diamond trick with the ten, whereupon East will be able to lead a club with perfect safety.

Of course great expert West will have a lot of explaining to do if it turns out that his partner holds the jack of clubs instead of the ten of diamonds. In that case his brilliant diamond plays will have cost him the game but things like that happen to experts. There is just no such animal as the perfect bridge player.

Golf in Texas Has Big Money, Not the Stars

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Texas has been noted for its golfers. In the heyday of Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson, Jimmy Demaret and Lloyd Mangrum it was considered tops in the nation.

There still are many fine golfers from Texas and they win heavily along the tour but there is no foursome to compare with Hogan, Nelson, Demaret and Mangrum.

But instead of producing the players to win all the money, Texas now is producing big money for golfers from other areas.

This year there will be $411,500 in purses in eight Texas tournaments.

BEN HOGAN

LYNDD MANGRUM
Took 1946 Open Playoff

BYRON NELSON

JIMMY DEMARET

The Houston Golf Classic and Colonial National Invitational at Fort Worth will offer $100,000 each, the Dallas Open $85,000 and the Texas Open at San Antonio $80,000.

Four women's tournaments contribute $46,700. They are the Dallas City which has a purse of $15,000, the Tall-City Open at Midland where $12,000 is the purse, the San Antonio City Open which is expected to offer $10,000 and the Babe Zaharias Open at Beaumont which pays $9,000.

Texas who won four tournaments last year were Wes Ellis, Bert Weaver, Phil Nichols, Dave Marr, Tom Lema, Jack Rule, Gay Brewer, Babe Hilskey and Homero Blancas. Lema and Brewer are not natives but they now live in Texas.

This year the first Texan to win a tournament was Don Barbara Massengale. The former Texas Christian University star took the Bing Crosby.

Texas has had the leading woman golfer for several years. Mickey Wright, a San Diego native living in Dallas, was the No. 1 player until she retired last year. But Barbara Whitworth, who lives at San Antonio, has taken her place.

Yale Coach Feels Star Swimmer May Exceed Four Medals in '68

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

The next Olympics are more than two years hence but Don Schollander is swimming as if they were tomorrow.

The winner of four gold medals at the 1964 games in Tokyo has just started what he hopes will be a successful varsity career at Yale, the New Haven, Conn., school that makes a habit of winning Ivy League swimming titles.

Schollander will be 22 by the time the 1968 games are held in Mexico City but already he is planning a few trips there. He's brushing up on Spanish.

His Yale coach, Phil Mortari, says:

"Maybe Don will win more than four gold medals at Mexico City. His potential is unlimited. He's a matured swimmer and my job is to keep him wound up."

Mortari had Schollander wound up pretty good in the opening meet on Feb. 5, against previously unbeaten Navy. Yale won 57-38 and Don helped the Fil win two relay races.

In the first, Schollander anchored 100 yards in 47.3 for the 400-yard medley relay team. Coming back in the final event—the 400-yard freestyle relay, Don was clocked in 46.6 for 100 yards. He made up a six-yard deficit.

"I felt much better the second time," says Schollander. "The first time I must not have loosened up enough."

Last year as a freshman, Schollander logged about 70,000 miles traveling from Washington, D.C., home at Lake Oswego, Ore., and to Marseilles, France. He had speeches to make and awards to accept, including the Sullivan Award as the top amateur athlete of 1964.

In July he was grounded by mononucleosis.

"Getting sick is never fun," admits Schollander. "But it may have been a good thing for me. I was getting tired of swimming and even thought of retiring. The illness gave me a chance to rest and think."

He switched his college major from pre-med to economics and changed his philosophy on life during the recuperation.

"The main thing I want out of life is to be happy," he says. "I want to enjoy life while I'm still young. Too many people plan for their future, then run out of time to enjoy themselves."

"If I went into medicine I would not start my career until my early thirties. That's too late. The best years of my life would have been gone. I simply want to enjoy my family and those around me."

Don has no steady girl around

New Haven but his special girl is Patience Sherman from Upper Montclair, N. J. She's an Olympic swimmer. Just before the swimming season began she got him to shave off a beard he had grown during final exams.

"After a year's rest I'm really raring to go," says Don. "I'm still a young kid. It would have been insane for me to retire from swimming at 18. A big reward in swimming is traveling and I like to travel a lot."

"I've been to Europe and Japan three times and Brazil once. I could never have afforded those trips on my own."

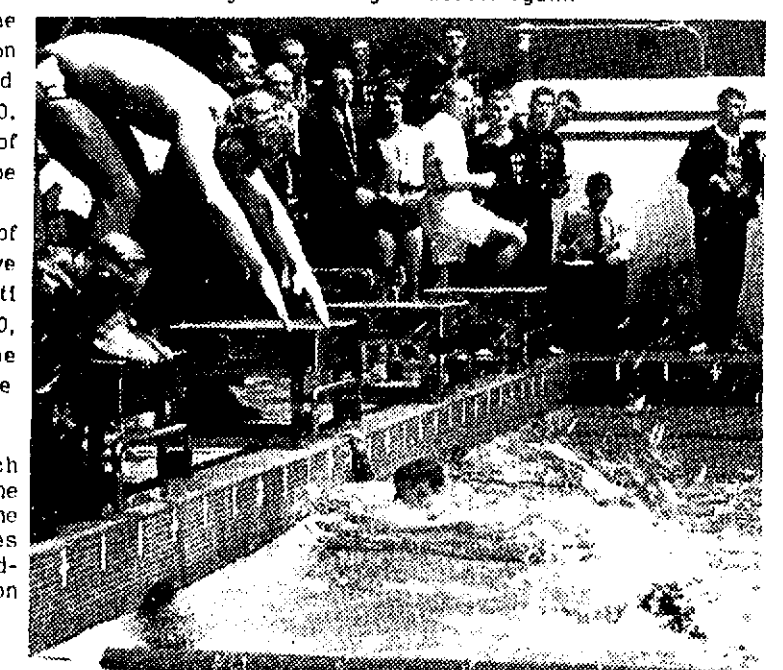

In the last Olympics Schollander performed better than anyone had expected. He was just a high school boy at the time yet won the 100 and 400 meters freestyle events and helped the United States 400 and 800 freestyle relay teams to set world records. In his own 400 he set a world mark of 4:12.2 and in the 100 his 0:53.4 was an Olympic mark.

"Unlike others," says Don Schollander, "swimming is not my entire life. When outside the pool I try to be normal like everyone else."

He is accomplishing that, too. He's only a sophomore but older teammates and classmates have accepted him "as one of the guys."

TOP AMATEUR ATHLETE: Sensational freestyle swimmer Don Schollander is shown with the 1964 James E. Sullivan Award. He's studying Spanish with the thought of visiting Mexico City a few times before the 1968 Olympics there. Could be he might go after four gold medals again.

YALE VARSITY MAN NOW: Don Schollander, winner of four swimming gold medals at the 1964 Tokyo Olympics, makes his Yale varsity debut as anchorman on the 400-yard medley relay against Navy. He helped the Eli win this event.

Danowskis Still Collect Trophies

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

HUNTINGTON, N. Y. (AP) — Ed Danowski has another football trophy for the family collection.

This one really doesn't belong to the former Fordham and New York Giant quarterback, but it's part of the collection in his East Meadow home. It's a little trophy yet means more than the letters and mementos Ed, now 54, earned in his glory days.

"My son is in this next group," papa Danowski whispered proudly at the dais.

Everyone in the audience who has a son in the Levittown Midget Football League which embraces hundreds of youngsters below the high school varsity level knew about Ed Danowski's boy.

John Danowski, 12, played end for the unbeaten Levittown Red Devils. They had to be good because they played on the road and it was a good reason for papa Danowski to miss the Giant games in Yankee Stadium last fall. When the Giants were home Ed became a Red Devil rouser.

When master of ceremonies Jack Quinn asked Ed Danowski to present the trophy to his 118-pound 5-foot-7 son the applause was deafening.

It's a good thing papa Danowski had been called on for a few words before the trophy presentation. He was more at ease then.

"I remember the first time I suited up with the Giants," Danowski said. "I was one of 15 children from Jamesport, a little town way out on Long Island. I guess all my relatives were on hand that day in the Polo Grounds."

"They were shouting 'Danowski, Danowski!'"

"Coach Steve Owen called me: 'Hey Danowski!'"

"Whooeee will I go in for coach?" I asked.

"Don't go in for anybody,"

Steve said. "Go up in the stands, they're calling you."

They called Danowski a lot in his seven years with the Giants. His quarterbacking got them in five playoffs. Twice they won, beating the Chicago Bears in 1934 and the Green Bay Packers in 1938. He spent 1940 at Jersey City and when Giants were hurt in 1941 Danowski, old No. 22, was back pitching at age 30.

"I used to throw the short passes," admits Danowski who captained Fordham in 1933. "I used to call on Hank Soar, the American League baseball umpire, for the long ones. He could throw a lot further. One day Soar had a long pass intercepted and Coach Owen bawled him out."

"Now coach," Soar said, "the play called for it. Anyway you can't complete 'em all."

"We didn't have too many plays but we had eight backs and all could play the single wing."

Ed F. Danowski now is a physical education teacher at East Meadow Junior High where he coaches the freshman team. Ed A. 26, who went to Hofstra, now assists in football at Seaford High where he also coaches lacrosse.

Papa Danowski's college fame came as a junior in 1932. In the annual Fordham-St. Mary's game, Ed tossed two touchdowns passes and the Rams beat the Gaels 14-0.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax, Christy Mathewson and Lew Burdette have something in common.

They are the only major leaguers to pitch successive World Series shutouts with two days rest.

Koufax did it last fall for the champion Los Angeles Dodgers. He blanked the Minnesota Twins 7-0 and 2-0 in games 5 and 7. Burdette performed his feat with the 1957 Milwaukee Braves, blanking the New York Yankees 1-0 in game 5 and 5-0 in game 7.

Mathewson made his first World Series a memorable one. In 1905 he pitched three successive shutouts against the Philadelphia Athletics. He won the opener, 3-0, won the third game after two days rest, 9-0, and won the fifth and final of that classic, 2-0, with only one day rest.

In 1961 Whitey Ford of the Yankees pitched successive shutouts against the Cincinnati Reds. He won the opener, 2-0, and after three days rest came back to win the fourth game 4-0.

Conservation Aspect Brings Out Real Meaning of Retriever Trials

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

One day last fall sportsman John M. Olin had a choice seldom offered to one man. He could watch the results of more than a year's careful planning with championship dogs or thoroughbred horses.

He had three black Labrador retrievers in the National field trial championship and a fast $75,000 son of Swaps—Cosmah in the rich Garden State Stakes, worth $187,167 to the winning horse.

Since the two tests of stamina were about 60 miles apart the 73-year-old honorary chairman of the board of a large chemical firm took in both. But he saw the finish of only one event and it happened to be the wrong one.

His horse, Fathers Image, the 13 to 10 odds said, would win $187,167 but instead the 2-year-old colt finished sixth. He had burned himself out holding off three challengers to the stretch.

At about the same moment, his dog, Martens Little Smoky, was winning the 27th annual National Retriever Field Trial Club at the huge and testing Bombay Hook National Wildlife Preserve near Smyrna, Del. The prize was a $25 gold button which field triers prize their sporting hats.

"Yet," admits John Olin today, "it would have been more rewarding to be with the dogs. I have seen practically every field trial since 1950 when the late Daniel E. Pomeroi, of Englewood, N.J., got me interested. "He won 47 trials and Olin Pershall, now my trainer, trained for him. Dan and I used to hunt and fish together. He and Bracken's Sweep who won the shows and field trials, is back the National.

National. "I've loved 12 years between Nationals. I'm fond of the three dogs that reached the final trial. They are all 6-year-old black Labradors. But one of them could hunt. King Buck would, King Buck, says Olin, was just about the greatest Labrador retriever ever. He won 14 titles between 1971 and 1973, at 4 1/2 years, the National field trial championship at Wadsworth, N.Y. He retired to his home in 1973.

"That's where we found a perfect duck, quail and snipe preserve. It's a little hard to get people to hunt. It's a little hard to get people to hunt. It's a little hard to get people to hunt."

King Buck died at 14 in 1962 but before he died John M. Olin commissioned Iowa artist Maynard Reece to execute a water color of the dog who often slept on the foot of his master's bed. The portrait became the 1959 duck stamp. It was the year the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service paid tribute to a retriever's role in waterfowl conservation.

King Buck is in a crypt at Nido Kennels. A statue and plaque marks the mound.

Olin-Pershall retrievers have won many titles other than the National. They are well rewarded, too. When Olin takes friends hunting each fall and winter on his Albany, Ga., plantation his winning dogs go along.

That old adage, a dog is a man's best friend, still applies. Furthermore, too many favored horses become also runs.

TITLE FILM IS AVAILABLE NEW YORK (AP) — "Elements of Victory," a 30-minute 16 mm color film on the highlights of Green Bay's 23-12 victory over Cleveland for the National Football League championship, is available for local showings without charge.

Adult groups may obtain the film at a price by writing Sports Bureau, 777 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

Boston Was Ninth But Herman Recalls One Game-Saving Catch

By BILLY HERMAN

Manager, Boston Red Sox
Written for AP Newsfeatures

First, it should be realized that when your club finishes ninth as we did last year, you can be sure there were not too many "Plays That Count" for us to talk about.

However, there is no question in my mind that the biggest play made by a member of the Red Sox in 1955 belonged to center-fielder Lenny Green.

It was one of the finest catches of its kind I have ever seen. It came in the 11th inning when the opposition had the bases loaded and we were holding a one run lead. The count was three and two and everyone was running, but unfortunately it cost us the services of Lenny Green for well over a month.

It happened in the second game of a doubleheader with the Washington Senators at Fenway Park on Sunday, June 27. We had won the opener 4-1, and in the top of the 11th were leading 5-4 with Bob Dillha, our third pitcher of the game, on the mound. Washington got the bases loaded with two out, when Dillha ran the count to three and two on Washington shortstop Ed Brinkman.

With everybody running on the next pitch, Brinkman hit a screaming, rising line drive that was a inch to score all three runners. Green turned at the crack of the bat, raced all the way back to the center-field wall, caught the ball and crashed into the wall, injuring his right wrist in the process.

BILLY HERMAN
Recalls a Great Catch

LENNY GREEN
Red Sox and Wall Won

Our left fielder, Carl Yastrzemski, who had the closest look at the play, said afterward,

"It was the greatest catch I ever saw. That thing took off like a golf ball. It was split-second, bang-bang. He caught the ball and hit the wall. It's different when you can fall over a railing or fence, but when you know that moment is there, the feeling changes. When you think of how he challenged that wall—so close—you know it's got to be a great catch."

It saved the game for us, but it cost us Lenny's services at a crucial time in our season, but we could use more of that kind of hustle.

Don Harvey, playing for Baltimore in the American Hockey League, as in his 20th season of pro hockey.

A MEMORABLE START FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Colorado State University basketball players have at least two reasons for remembering their game with New Mexico State. It was the opening game in the Rams' 9,520-seat field-house-auditorium and they set a university record for scoring in beating the New Mexicans 109-70.

The often-noted disappearance of the two-party system in this country is more a matter of form than any real substance. In foreign policy, the Democrats now offers the casual voter all the choices once associated with a two-party and even multi-party arrangement. He can go in one direction with Vice President Humphrey, another with Sen. Robert Kennedy, still a third with Sen. Fulbright, etc. The President defines the party's position, but as it turns out, this is more for the benefit of the Republicans than for his colleagues in the Senate. The Democrats go along. It is the Democrats who are split and scattered all over the map of Viet Nam, advocating everything from all-out war to all-out surrender.

And the remarkable thing about it is that it works fairly well for all of its contradictions. No matter what happens - whether the policy in Viet Nam turns out to be an asset or a liability - at least half of the Democrats will have been right half of the time. In politics, half right half of the time is pretty good going and by no means an accident. — Charleston (W.Va.) Daily Mail

Be Prepared

Sometimes the CIA reminds us of the guy whose life is one great montage of undeserved bad luck. Their invasions fail, their information sources tattle on them, and people write nasty books about it all.

Lately they're even being picked on by the Boy Scouts. Some Scouts decided to camp not long ago on open grounds next to the CIA's secluded headquarters in McClean, Va. It wasn't that the spies minded having the Scouts nearby, it was just that the little nippers instead of infiltrating the CIA's research stations - terribly embarrassing for one of the world's high-powered espionage organizations.

Perhaps they should send the Boy Scouts to do the spying and put the spies to helping little old ladies across the street. Surely the CIA can do that right. Charlotte (N.C.) News

Slight Thought

It's probably outside the bounds of "Great Society" planning, but a fellow we know thinks President Johnson might help the economy greatly by a variation of his proposal to serve hot breakfast at schools for needy children - "who start the day hungry." This thinker suggests a program to persuade employees to eat at home so they won't have to have breakfast (euphemistically described as "second breakfast") on company time at their desks or in the nearest coffee shop. — Tampa (Fla.) SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — If you happen to be floating around on the Pacific during the next couple of months, don't panic if you hear the sound of freeway traffic.

Probably it will be just the soundtrack of a training film being shown by Ens. John B. Allison aboard the Coast Guard cutter Klamath. Because time was short while the cutter was in port recently, Allison will teach a driving improvement course to the skipper and his crew of 150 during the ship's current two-month cruise.

Sukarno Bows to Army, Jails Red Officials

By JOHN CANTWELL
SINGAPORE (AP) — Bowing to army leaders, President Sukarno of Indonesia allowed First Deputy Premier Subandrio and 14 other pro-Communist Cabinet ministers to be taken into military custody today.

Lt. Gen. Suharto, the army strongman, then announced over Radio Jakarta the temporary appointment of new Cabinet ministers to replace them.

Informed sources in Singapore said Subandrio, object of anti-Communist student demonstrations the past few weeks, had not been dismissed from his Cabinet posts but that this is only a question of time.

Radio Jakarta had reported earlier that acting on Sukarno's orders the armed forces had taken Subandrio, 14 other pro-Communist ministers into "protective custody" to "prevent them from becoming victims of the Indonesian people, who were becoming restless and uncontrollable."

Diplomatic observers in Singapore said Sukarno, 64, who had stubbornly resisted the mounting opposition of Subandrio and other pro-Communist in the Cabinet, had lost the last with the anti-Communist military leaders.

"Sukarno is finished," one observer said.

Jakarta Radio said the detention order was issued "to maintain peace and stability in the country." It was issued by Sukarno but signed by Lt. Gen. Suharto, the radio said. Suharto is the army chief who took over power in Indonesia last Saturday.

Sources in Singapore predicted that Suharto's next move would be to dissolve Sukarno's present cabinet, probably using the "unpopularity" of the 15 ministers as an excuse. They said a new Cabinet has already been decided on, made up of 25 military and civilian leaders.

Soybean and Grain Meet March 24

A soybean and grain sorghum meeting will be held at the Southwest Branch Experiment Station on Thursday, March 24, according to Calvin J. Caldwell, county agent.

Hospital to Close Nursing School

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — The Warner Brown Hospital school of nursing, which has graduated 355 nurses since its 1921 founding, will be closed June 5, it was announced Thursday.

Sister Mary Leonarda, hospital administrator, said major factors behind the decision to close the school were the declining number of qualified applicants and the American Nursing Association's nounced belief that nursing education should be in institutions of higher learning.

Debt Ceiling Raise Expected in Early May

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department expects to ask Congress in May to raise the legal ceiling on the national debt again — possibly to a record $324 billion.

The request, even if it doesn't go that high, is certain to touch off another round of criticism on the rising debt, deficit financing and federal spending. It usually does.

Unless Congress acts — and it always has in the past — the debt ceiling will drop on July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year, to its permanent level of $285 billion.

The present temporary one-year ceiling is $328 billion but the actual debt is about $4 billion less than that — $323.7 billion as of the close of business March 14. The Treasury, however, says it can handle the debt more efficiently if it has a little operating room.

Actually, no one knows for certain just what would happen if Congress refused to accept any extension in the temporary ceiling and permitted the legal limit to drop to $285 billion.

Congress always has gone along with the Treasury's request although it has sometimes given the administration less of an increase than was sought. The Treasury last year requested, for example, an increase to $329 billion but got $1 billion less. Failure to act could, of course, force the Treasury to halt all borrowing immediately and probably would mean default on some obligations within several weeks.

The formal request is expected to be transmitted to Congress between May 1 and 15 and at the hearings to follow Treasury officials also expect to discuss the 4.25 per cent ceiling on government bonds which mature in five or more years.

Democratic members of the Senate-House Economic Committee earlier this week said it would be a serious mistake to remove this longstanding ceiling. But Republican committee members disagreed, and said lifting of the 4.25 per cent ceiling would permit what they called noninflationary, long-term government financing at lower interest rates than are now possible through short-term notes.

Series E and H bonds, the type sold to the public, are subject to the 4.25 per cent limit. Last month the government raised the rate on series E and H bonds from 3.75 to 4.15 per cent.

Under a formula devised by former Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, the department estimated the temporary debt ceiling it would need for its operations by adding the existing ceiling and the expected budget deficit for that year.

Since the budget for the fiscal year which ends June 30 is expected to show a deficit of about $6 billion, the Treasury would request raising the ceiling of about $6 billion, the Treasury would request raising the ceiling to $334 billion under the Dillon formula.

Spacemen Rest as Scientists Probe Failure

By HARRY MOSKOS
HONOLULU (AP) — Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott rested in Hawaii today as U.S. scientists probed into why Gemini 8 gyrated wildly in space, forcing the flight to be cut short.

The homeward-bound astronauts, returning by jet plane, paused in Honolulu briefly after a flight from Okinawa.

Scientists centered their attention on what happened when a radio command was sent to turn on a tape recorder in the Agena satellite to which Gemini 8 was docked.

While docked, Gemini 8 started tumbling crazily and Armstrong, the command pilot, had to fight for control.

After successfully backing away from Agena and the splashdown, the astronauts were plucked from the Pacific Ocean by a destroyer and taken to Okinawa.

Showing no ill effects, they ran down the gangplank of the destroyer USS Leonard F. Mason in blue navy hospital robes.

Despite the hair-raising termination of the flight and their emergency splashdown, they were pronounced in excellent shape. Their only problem was some seasickness while the capsule bobbed around for nearly three hours, waiting for the destroyer.

They were expected to remain here about 10 hours before continuing in an Air Force C-135 transport jet to Cape Kennedy, Fla.

On their arrival in Hawaii, Rear Adm. Henry S. Persons, who commanded the Pacific Recovery Force, placed red carnation leis around the necks of Armstrong and Scott.

Even Song Birds Go in LC Records

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Desegregation, fraudulent insurance practices and the protection of song birds all made it into the records of Legislative Council Thursday.

Before the Council's Education Committee, Sen. Robert Harvey of Swift said he had reservations about getting federal aid for state training schools because the government could demand that they be integrated.

"I don't want any part of that," Harvey said.

"Integration no longer is a factor," said Rep. Paul Van Dalsem of Perry County. The committee voted to have a proposed bill drafted which would centralize control of the four training schools and make them eligible for federal aid.

The Corporations, Insurance and Banking Committee extended by 60 days its deadline for a crackdown on fraudulent insurance practices. The deadline went to the state Insurance Commission.

Insurance Commissioner Harvey Combs said he had talked with some offending companies and had made some progress.

U.S. Troops Pursue Cong Unchallenged

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. Forces pushed deeper into Communist-dominated jungles north and south of Saigon today almost without challenge from the Viet Cong. An infantry spearhead found a huge store of abandoned radio equipment.

The discovery of another 20 bodies by U.S. and Australian troops on the 11th day of Operation Silver City raised the total enemy dead in the allied invasion of the Communist D zone 3 miles north of Saigon to 335 Communists killed, a spokesman announced. Most of the casualties were attributed to air and artillery fire.

The 25th Infantry Division, sweeping 25 miles southwest of Saigon, skirmished briefly with the Communists, killing one Red, capturing eight and seizing six tons of rice. The Hawaii-captured division's five-day-old Operation Honolulu has accounted for 11 Viet Cong dead, 14 captured, and the destruction of 18 sampans, 18 bunkers and three tunnels, the spokesman said.

While the Viet Cong mostly stayed out of the way of the troops on the offensive, they were active on the terrorist front.

A Viet Cong mine killed 15 rice farmers in the coastal lowlands near Tuy Hoa, 235 miles northeast of Saigon, where U.S. and South Korean forces have made repeated sweeps to protect the rice harvest.

The 20 pounds of TNT went off as the farmers were riding on bicycles and motor scooters along a country road to pick up some rice, a U.S. spokesman said.

Dormitory Fire Leaves 3 Boys Dead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A pre-dawn fire destroyed a two-story dormitory at the Methodist Home for Children today, killing three boys and injuring six persons — including the house mother.

Only the gray-stone walls of the structure remained standing. A dozen boys, 10 to 14 years old, and the house mother lived there. Most of those who survived leaped to safety from second floor windows.

H. Darrell Stone, superintendent of the home, said 65 children between the ages of 10 and 14 live there. He said it is for dependent children, not all of them orphans.

Stone declined to list the dead or injured.

Lost Bomb Found, Will Be Raised

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — U.S. Navy experts at dawn today began the delicate job of raising the lost American H-bomb from the Mediterranean floor after a midjet submarine's pictures indicated it had been found.

The two-man sub Alvin on Wednesday photographed what official sources said was "undoubtedly" the bomb five miles off the southern coast of Spain and 2,500 feet below the surface. Using the sub's mechanical arms, the Alvin's crew was expected to try to attach cables to the bomb so the powerful crane aboard the LSD Fort Snelling could lift it slowly to the surface.

Officials said it might take as much as three days for Rear Adm. William Guest's Task Force 65 to bring the deadly device up from the depths.

Reliable sources said the bomb lay on the slope of a 70-foot hillock, exposed to strong currents which some feared could sweep it into a new location.

Washington Man Killed in Auto Wreck

Horace J. Calhoun, 51, of Washington, Ark., was killed Thursday afternoon when his automobile smashed into a bridge railing on a railroad overpass on Highway 67 just west of Fulton.

Calhoun, a rural mail carrier, was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, Texarkana where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Sheriff Richard Birtcher of Miller County and State Trooper Wiley Parham said Calhoun was traveling along in a small foreign car. The officers said their investigation indicated the right front tire blew out and Mr. Calhoun apparently lost control of the car. The vehicle hit the railing on the right side of the bridge.

He is survived by his wife, Mary Kathryn Calhoun; a daughter, Mrs. Wallace Martin of Texarkana; three brothers, Glen and Lee Calhoun of Hope, Clarence Calhoun of Cathage, Texas; a sister, Mrs. Tom Bobo, Jr. of Hope and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Calhoun of Washington.

LBJ Hopeful of Visit to Europe

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is reported hopeful of making a trip to Europe when relations among the Western allies shake down, perhaps later this year.

For the time being, however, he is said to have put aside all thought of planning such a trip because of uncertainties in the Western Alliance.

These uncertainties arise from French President Charles de Gaulle's decision to pull French troops out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, put an end to U.S. bases in France, and require removal of NATO military headquarters from France.

U.S. officials report that De Gaulle has not given them any time schedule, but French officials have been quoted as saying he wants to carry out his program this year.

If Johnson goes to Europe this year it probably will be in late summer or fall. He apparently has thought of the trip as a goodwill mission for strengthening allied ties.

The President met with top aides on the NATO question Thursday night. The White House gave out no details on the session.

Listed at the meeting were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary George W. Ball, John M. Levy, assistant secretary for European affairs, and Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance.

Also on hand were Charles E. Bohlen and Dean Acheson, the White House said. Bohlen, U.S. ambassador to France, was called back to Washington for the current consultations. Acheson, former secretary of state under President Harry S. Truman, has been working as an adviser on the NATO question.
